

A Case Study: A Multi-channel Holiday Campaign

Background

Insight Que Solutions executed a multi-channel marketing campaign for a women's online watch merchant. The objective of the campaign was to increase their online sales and to move their old inventory SKU's so that new inventory could come-in and replace the old inventory of the merchant.

Approach

Insight Que Solutions used data driven strategic marketing execution, to execute this campaign for the watch merchant. The process was executed using best-in-class campaign design, strategic use of analytics and data and marketing automation.

The campaign was executed on primarily on three objectives:

- a) A Landing Page
- b) Strategic execution of multiple email campaigns
- c) Miscellaneous Website Promotion Integration

The overall campaign execution included on the following components

- List of SKU's for all items
- Collateral provided (Images, videos, promo codes)
- Messaging
- Page setup/layout
 - Image creation, editing, copy
 - Programming
 - Testing
 - Tracking

Campaign Details:

1. A Holiday Gift Guide-
 - The Timeless Holiday Gift Guide
2. 6 Strategic Email Campaigns

Campaign Duration:

35 Days

At each milestone, we collected and compared the core metrics for the campaign in order to evaluate the reach, engagement and conversions. Before executing the campaign, the client did not have the eCommerce tracking in place within analytics tool to understand the consume journey. We executed tracking enhancement during the campaign execution.

Concluding Remarks

Applying data-driven strategic marketing execution, in this case, Insight Que Solutions improved the overall sales and number of total orders for the merchant significantly. The process was executed using best-in-class campaign design, strategic use of analytics and data and marketing automation. The process allowed us to learn customer behaviors at multiple levels, such as new customers' behavior vs. repeat customer behavior, their propensity to respond to a campaign, interact and respond to campaigns through landing page and emails website elements during the holiday seasons.
